Connections begin with a question

Along’s Library is filled with hundreds of questions—each one designed to spark conversation and unlock connections between educators and their students.

It’s easy to get started! Choose a question. Record your own reflection to share with students. Invite students to respond.

With so many approachable, research-informed questions to choose from, meaningful connections are just a few clicks away.

Quickly choose a question from the recommended questions.

Count on the Along Team to highlight timely content in the Recommended Weekly section of Along’s Library.

Or, explore All Collections to discover a question that’s just right.

Collections cover topics that are top-of-mind for educators and relevant for students, such as:

- Values and interests
- Classroom culture
- Manage conflict
- Pulse check

In each Collection, you will find topic-aligned questions like:

- What’s something in your life, big or small, that you’re proud of? Why are you proud of it?
- What classroom and school norms do you suggest we adopt as a community this year?
- Has there ever been a time when it was hard for you to do what you thought was right? How did you handle the situation?
- How are you feeling about everything going on in the world right now?

We’ve included some suggested talking points to help you decide what to share in your own reflection. Look for them to the right of the screen when you are recording.

Have ideas for questions or Collections you’d like to see in Along? Email us at support@along.org.

©2022 Gradient Learning. | This work is licensed under a CC BY-NC 4.0 license.